

Skateparks

Louisville, KY.

Hello - I just got back from Indiana / Kentucky for a Easter Family visit / Park opening.

When I got to Louisville, I was floored by the Skate park I saw. It is huge complete with a bowl complex, full pipe, street coarse, vert ramp, and ledge wonderland. Get this, they aren't done yet. There is an indoor section that hasn't been started yet. The only draw back is the abundance of BMX bandits(at least 50%),and the lack of big park edicate on the part of everyone. They just don't know yet.

I'd have to say this is the best skate park I have ever seen. It's open and lit up 24/7, no charge, no attendant, and get this NO PADS, not even a helmet! I see some major brain injuries coming out of this place, but then again it's Kentucky so you probably couldn't notice the difference.

Book a flight today and see all the sights and wonders Kentucky has to offer you and your family for a vacation.....Scratch that- Fly in, skate the park, get right back home!

"The new Louisville park just kills everything I have rode yet as far as gnarliness goes, cuz of the whole fullpipe syndrome."
